

by Stephanie Quadri

Photographer: Sam Granado; Hair and makeup: Shane Morden/Blue Issue Agency; Stylist: Mari Hidalgo/Blue Issue Agency; Asst. stylist: Arlene Velasco; Model: Jessica Cline/Kim Dawson Agency; Produced by: Stephanie Quadri

Fashion devotees know that there are more than four seasons when it comes to updating their closets. Designers create pieces for the in-between times, too, including pre-fall, which arrives in stores this month. Fear not, the new inventory is still light enough to incorporate into your current wardrobe and includes items perfect for a romantic summer getaway. One example is this black silk faille skirt by Oscar de la Renta, an investment piece that can be worn year-round. Seasonless transition clothing is key to an effortless jump into fall styles.

Jessica is wearing an Oscar de la Renta black and white checked satin organza blouse ($1,050) and black silk faille pleated skirt ($1,350), both available at Oscar de la Renta NorthPark; Scorah Pattullo "Natasha" shoes ($550/Linus Lounge). Also pictured, clockwise from top right: umbrella ($22/The Boulevard Emporium); Mulholland brigade bucket ($245/Via Pelle); lawn chair ($20/White Elephant); Brahms Mount blanket ($77/Tango Zango); Mulholland drawstring backpack ($435) with spyglass ($135), aviator bag ($840), and safari bag ($875), all available at Via Pelle.