Fashion at the Park runway shows, plus special deals for Lucky readers. By Amy Prince

Lucky on the loose:

victory park

This quickly developing downtown area has a booming luxury-boutique scene.

OLIVE STREET

HENRY BEGUELIN

2426 Victory Park Ln., 214-303-0120 The Milanese company's months-old seventh outpost is a luxe trove of buttery leather handbags, shoes, and more.

BELLA FLORA

2424 Victory Park Ln., 214-855-0400 This innovative Irving-based florist and event specialist recently sprouted a retail outlet for congrats bouquets, bedside pick-me-ups, and the like.

NOKA

2422 Victory Park Ln., 214-740-9995 The famed Plano-based chocolatier set up this gallery-like space to flaunt its gourmet bonbons. Most decadent: the dark chocolate truffles in their signature sleek stainless steel packaging.

MUNIA

2414 Victory Park Ln., 214-871-8808 Considered the neighborhood's mini Neiman's, the intimate designer-rich spot (on the racks: Marc Jacobs, Versace, Stella McCartney, Valentino) caters to high-end-label lovers of all ages—teen-friendly handbags share space with crisp suits here.

LIFESTYLE FASHION TERMINAL

2350 Victory Park Ln., 214-635-2150 Known by downtown denizens as LFT, this 30,000-square-foot indie department store is divided into vignettes (Twelfth Street by Cynthia Vincent and Chip & Pepper, among others) and has terrific sections devoted to Dallas designers and vintage pieces, plus an in-shop salon and café.

JOLIE

2316 Victory Park Ln., 214-855-5566 From the same owner as Mockingbird Station's Movida, Jolie blends well-known names with emerging ones: Rachel Pally, Voom, Sky, and Hype, plus delicate baubles from Anne Rachelle.

KLAD

2308 Victory Park Ln., 866-510-1749 The local counterpart of San Antonio's Cork, this modern streetwear stop is chockablock with standouts like Mek jeans, Velvet tees, and wide-leg trousers by Alice + Olivia.

insider tips

speedy spa treatments

A slew of efficient services allow you to squeeze in an appointment without feeling pressed for time.

Blowout

Todd Allen, the owner of Orange (2932 Main St., 214-698-2006), is so in demand for his no-nonsense, 30-minute blowouts ($50) that he burns through one flat-nozzled Elchim blowdryer a week. Using a large round brush with natural boar bristles, Allen deftly balances sleekness and volume—and the results last up to a week.

massage ($40), which is performed with aromatherapeutic lotion or oil in mango, coconut, or pineapple. If time allows, spring for the express facial and manicure, too—a lavish total-body pampering in under an hour and a half.

Eyelash extensions

The northside retreat Lily Day Spa (14902 Preston Rd., Ste. 506, 972-503-9912), a spin-off of the Dallas product line, offers several accelerated indulgences, including the standout 25-minute eyelash extension ($35)—a festive pre-party treat.

Facial

A speedy, luxurious way to ready yourself for the weekend is the signature Glamorize package ($65) at the lavish Za Spa (2332 Leonard St., 214-550-9492): The action-packed 45-minute service includes a fresh cucumber anti-puffiness cure, brow-shaping, a blueberry and blackberry enzyme mask, a pressure-point eye massage, hydrating lip treatment, and, lastly, a brightening oxygen mist.

Microdermabrasion

Ladies in the know spend their lunch breaks at the Knox Place medspa Evanesque (4645 N. Central Expy., Ste. 100, 214-575-5252), where they can squeeze in brief, 30-minute procedures like the Bounce Back Mini Treatment ($65), a glow-inducing microdermabrasion accompanied by a deep cleansing, an eye-brightening treatment for fine lines, and a neck and décolleté massage.

Massage
