Wal-Mart Attracts Downtown Shoppers

Urban Market struggles while Uptown
Neighborhood Market flourishes

By Paige Phelps

With an estimated 25,000 people living in Dallas' downtown and Uptown areas, the news from Ted Hamilton that the Urban Market grocery store is "on life support" was not good news.

He said the Interurban [Building] investment group dropped $2 million into a sandwich shop specifically serving lar with the residents, but we don't have enough of them to sustain it."

Hamilton spoke to the North Dallas Chamber of Commerce while on a panel called "Combining Public Dollars with Private Real Estate Development — Can It Be a Win-Win?"

Since that meeting, the Dallas City Economic Development and Housing Committee voted on Sept. 19 to
